"FIGHTING THE FLAMES" AS IT WILL BE SEEN AT THE FAIR

Building Is Made of Steel and Asbestos and Fire Is Real.

The large cut above is taken from a photograph of "Fighting the Flames" as it is being seen in Denver and will be seen at the territorial fair. The smaller picture is from a photograph of the famous fire horses, Pete and Con, who won the international championship for harnessing and starting at the exposition at Omaha. These horses are getting pretty well along in years but are wonderfully well preserved and are yet able to make record time in the fire fighting business.

The building as seen in the cut to be on fire is an asbestos affair carried by the company. The supports are steel and the flames seen coming from the windows are real and the smoke is the kind to cause suffocation.

The whole scene of "Fighting the Flames" when set up covers nearly a block of ground. The setting is just like the setting of a mammoth stage, excepting the buildings are more material. Every part of the settings of Fighting the Flames is something tangible. The building is so strong that people climb to the top of it and the whole support structure on ladders thrown up to rescue them. There is a real street scene, with horses and carriages, automobiles and street cars, all carrying people, in it.

The fire house is on one side of the street and the fire horses and wagons and engines are in plain view so that the hitching of the horses can be seen by the spectators. The fire house is a two-story structure, and when the alarm sounds the firemen can be seen sliding down from their bunks into their places on the engines and fire wagons.

A. W. Storer, manager of "Fighting the Flames," is expected in the city this evening to make arrangements for the coming of the big show. The moving of the production is such a task and the setting up of the structures used in it will require so much time that fully a week will be consumed in bringing it from Denver to Albuquerque. Mr. Storer will arrive in the city on Sunday and will probably remain in the city until the show gets here.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS APPOINT COMMITTEES

The Knights of Columbus held another enthusiastic meeting last evening to discuss arrangements for the big K. of C. Jubilee, which will take place in this city on Sunday and Monday of fair week. Committees to have charge of the banquet, which will follow the ceremonial session and a committee to have charge of the initiation, were appointed as follows: Banquet—B. O. Grady, Dr. Hendy, J. W. Prestel, J. Bimberst and P. F. McManis.

Initiation—H. S. Knight, J. Johnson, Martin Tierney, H. B. Wallenburgh and B. O. Grady.

Reports were made to the effect that fully forty-five applicants would be initiated at the approaching meeting and possibly sixty. Twenty of those already assured come from the city and twenty-five will come from outside of the city.

Last night's meeting adjourned to meet again next Sunday morning in the office of P. F. McManis. This meeting is set for 11:30 o'clock.

ALBUQUERQUE MUST BROWNS WILL GO TO HAVE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING SANTA FE AGAIN ON SUNDAY

This Was Decided at Meeting of Board of Education Last Night. Charlie Rathburn Joins Ancients--Trinidad Will Not Come to Fair.

Albuquerque must have a new school building. This was agreed on at last night's meeting of the city board of education. The members one and all are of the opinion that only a new building will solve the solution of the overcrowded condition of the schools and so expressed themselves at the meeting last night.

The question of providing room for the growing schools came up after the bills had been passed upon and the matter of providing immediate relief for the Third and Fourth wards was announced by Superintendent Sterling.

Superintendent Sterling reported that there were 1,437 pupils enrolled in the schools now and the number was growing day by day. A building to care for the overflow of these two wards was absolutely necessary. A building on south Sixth street was found obtainable and arrangements were made for it. This will house probably sixty children and it will be filled at once with pupils from the Fourth and Fifth grades from the Third and Fourth wards. This makes the third overflow school that the city is maintaining and the situation is but slightly relieved.

"But what are we going to do," said a member of the board this morning. We have no funds to buy property with and we have no money to build with. The town has grown within the past two years beyond all expectation. Two years ago we added four rooms to every building in the city and we thought that we were fixed for a while at least. And for a while indeed it was. We are in worse condition today than we were then. If we had had money a few years ago so that we could have bought some lots when they were reasonable, we might now be able to raise the money for buildings. But property has come up so high that we can't afford to buy the site for a new building.

We discussed the proposition at the board meeting last night quite thoroughly and reached the conclusion that a building we must have no matter what the cost. The movement is now on. We are not going to try to do anything right away, but each member of the board is to keep the matter in mind and all are to keep a lookout for a site for a central building somewhere near the center of the city. A little to the northwest won't hurt and according to the city that is growing fastest.

The Fourth ward is the most crowded school in the city. The lumber mills have brought a large number of people to the city and according to the number of children coming from that neighborhood, they don't believe in race suicide.

"We will try to find a site this year and next year we will try and raise money to build with. It is the general opinion of the board that the new building should be a big one and a good one."

The matter of playing at Santa Fe again next Sunday was left to the option of the players, and they have decided to give the Ancients another chance. The game last Sunday played at Santa Fe resulted in a tie score of 7 to 7, ten innings. The Ancients have strengthened considerably since their numerous and continued defeats early in the season at the hands of the Browns, and the latter feel like giving them a chance to regain their laurels. The latest acquisition of the Ancients is Charlie Rathburn, who was recently released from the Browns. Rathburn went to Santa Fe this morning and will play against his old comrades on Sunday. The Ancients have also acquired a new short stop, but who he is is not known here.

The line-up of the Browns in Sunday's game will be Diamond behind the bat and Galkano in the box. Graham on first, Clancy at second, Corhan short and Kunz at third. The field will be held down by Crabbe, Lasater and McHue.

Trinidad Won't Come.

Albuquerque is especially anxious to have the locals play there during the fair week, but it is altogether unlikely that they will go, says the Trinidad Advertiser. Max A. Huber, manager of the territorial fair, held a long conference with Captain Webster last night, but they were unable to close a deal. Many important reasons make it inadvisable to take the Trinidads there under present conditions. It is possible that the lineup will be changed considerably in order to accommodate the Browns, but Captain Webster dislikes to do this. Now that the league season has closed, Denver is full of good players and the upstarters are anxious to get a crowd of invincibles together to take Trinidad down a few pegs. The refusal of the local management to make terms for more Denver games has given rise to a rumor in that city that Trinidad was going to disband at once. Trinidad will probably play a few more games this season. An effort is being made to arrange dates with the Goodland, Kansas, team, and the matter will be settled in a few days. A farewell game with a good team will end the season soon, for bad weather will soon put a stop to the most successful year ever experienced by an independent team in the state.

Meiz was able to hobble out on crutches last evening, but it will be a long time before he will be able to do a suit. It is not likely that he will play any more this season. The injury will be slow in healing and a second fracture would probably be the means of keeping him out of the game for another season.

Base Ball Dope.

Fred Ramey, one of the fastest second basemen in the business, who began his career playing with the Albuquerque Browns, will pass through the city this evening en route to his home in California. Mr. Ramey was sold last spring by the Browns to the Los Angeles team and has been managing the team at that place the past season.

Raton Has Baseball Aspirations.

The "Yankee" baseball team which is made up of players of Raton is rapidly developing into one of the best teams in the territory. This team is under the management of Dr. Farley, a dentist of Raton, who is himself one of the best players and holds an enviable batting record. Last Sunday they played the ball nine of Hastings, Colo., and put it over them to the tune of 16 to 1. Dr. T. A. McCarthy, of the bureau of animal industry, who formerly was a crack ball tosser for the Cornell college team, pitched last Sunday's game. At this memorable battle Dr. Farley knocked a home run and made three base hits. The "Yankees" have made application to enter the baseball tournament at the territorial fair and they expect to give contestants a hard run for the money. Next Sunday they are scheduled to play the Alacazar team and the Sunday following will try their luck against the doughty Trinidad boys.

The Trinidad Advertiser says that Donovan, who was released from the Trinidad team last spring, and played part of the season with Cimarron, has been taken on by Albuquerque. This is a mistake. Donovan went to Santa Fe last Sunday with the Browns and played first base for the Browns there, but his name is not in the lineup for the game to be played there next Sunday.

BEARRUP-NEHER NUPTIALS

Miss Carrie Neher, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Neher, of North Second street, and Mr. Glen Bearrup, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bearrup, of North Third street, were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock and was performed by Rev. A. M. Mandlari, of the Immaculate Conception church. After the ceremony the guests sat down to an elaborate wedding feast of six courses. The large dining room of the Neher home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Strings of colored incandescent lights made graceful sweeps from each corner of the room and came together in a cluster over the center of the table upon which was spread the wedding feast. The table itself was lighted with clusters of candles mellowed by colored shades. The table decorations were cut pink roses and smilax. A hand painted place card laid at each plate. Plates were laid for twenty-five people. The guests were the nearest relatives and closest friends of the bride and groom. Both young people have grown up in Albuquerque and are most well and favorably known.

The groom recently engaged in the sheep business with his brother, Benito Bearrup, and Edgar Strumquist, two other well known young men of the city and they bought a ranch on the Rio Puerco, about forty miles west of this city. On the first of the month Mr. and Mrs. Bearrup will move to this ranch.

"LOST IN NEW YORK" SEPT. 20

"Lost in New York," which will be tomorrow evening's attraction at the Elks' opera house, is not as new as some of the offerings recently seen by our theater-goers, this fact perhaps being responsible for the unlimited faith the public seems to have in the performance, for there is not a particle of doubt but that the price is playing to larger returns than any of the new bidders for public patronage, for the great attraction, with a practical steam launch with a carrying capacity for ten persons, the realistic escape of Jennie in the row boat, Madison Square Garden and other familiar scenes in and about the metropolis, still bring capacity business to this ever welcome comedy drama.

Prices 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.
